Travel group launches first literary themed trip

Trip offers book lovers and writers the opportunity to travel to famous literary locations

NEW YORK, NY (Sept. 13, 2019) – Able Group Travel introduces its first annual literary themed trip abroad. The all-inclusive tour will span three locations of famous Western literature: Dublin, Ireland; London, England; and Paris, France. The tour will take place from May 1-10, 2020, and is open to members and non-members of all ages. Travelers will have the opportunity to visit book-related locations and experience cities from a localized perspective, all while being guided by travel and literary experts.

This organized tour will meet in Dublin where an Able tour guide will greet travelers. All transportation and accommodations are included in the overall trip price. Some highlights of the places travelers will visit include:

- Oscar Wilde House - Dublin
- The British Library - London
- Bloomsbury Square - London
- Shakespeare & Company Bookstore - Paris
- Latin Quarter - Paris

“I’ve met so many travelers from around the world who come to London to walk in the footsteps of their favorite characters or writers, and they always seem to leave inspired and excited about the rich literary history we have here,” said David Damon, senior tour guide at The British Library.

Each day will include a tour of at least two locations and two meals reflective of the local cuisine or theme of the day. To learn more or book your trip, visit abletravel.com/literary
